

ROCHE ORDERS AL CAPONE'S ARREST

OHIO HUNGER MARCH STARTS; CARAVANS BOUND FOR CAPITAL

Cleveland Group Is Received By Mayor
Of Bedford

By International News Service
Sent on their way with enthusiastic Communist rallies, Ohio's
"hunger marchers" were enroute
to Columbus today to demand relief from the state legislature.

One delegation, originating in Cleveland, had progressed as far as Bedford, fifteen miles from the lake city, on the first day's march.
About forty persons were in the group.

A second caravan of eighteen
marchers, starting from Youngstown, rode to Salem as the first lap in the trek toward the state capitol, and then marched to Frankfort Square, O., to spend the night.
Other groups leave within the next few days from Toledo, Cincinnati and Bridgeport. All plan to converge in Columbus on May 10
and make their demands of the legislature when it opens the following day.

Cleveland's "hunger marchers"
were given a cheerful farewell by one of the largest May Day crowds in the history of the city. Seven persons were arrested and taken to Central Police station when they attempted to speak from the soldiers and sailors monument
after all other available platforms
in public square were in use.

Four of the seven were charged with disorderly conduct and released on personal bond. The others were permitted to go free
when they signed waivers.

The Cleveland caravan arrived
at Bedford shortly after night fall.
They were escorted before Mayor
Tom Day, who greeted them af-fably and proffered the use of the town hall for the night.

Frank Miller, leader of the Cleveland faction, accepted the offer and the tired marchers went to sleep on the town hall floor.

Miller mounted the town hall
rostrum a few minutes to speak to some sixty residents who contributed a total of $2.50 to aid the marchers. The money was to be used to buy food. The marchers, however, were to eat breakfast this morning as guests of three Bedford restaurants.

A commissary truck carrying
food and medical supplies followed the marchers.

The Cleveland contingent expected to reach Akron by nightfall today and from there will proceed to Massillon where the Youngstown and Cleveland groups will converge.

Armed with plenty of food, the Youngstown marchers boarded trucks for the trip to Salem. In charge of George Plick, they staged an outdoor meeting in Salem before they hiked to Frankfort Square.

Today the Youngstown group,
which includes several women, was
to hike toward Alliance in the hope of reaching there before nightfall.

TRIAL WILL REVEAL HOW ESTATE FACTS

CINCINNATI, O., May 2.—More details of the ups-and-downs of the life of James Eads How, the "rich hobo," will be unfolded Monday
when hearing of the suit of Nicholas Klein, Cincinnati attorney, seeking $30,000 as a fee from the
"hobo's" estate is resumed, it was predicted today.

How was frequently in trouble,
witnesses testified at the opening of the hearing yesterday. Klein served as attorney for the "hobo"
from 1919 to 1929. At his death
Klein was named trustee of a fund
created for the benefit of Workers
of the World.

How's wife received only the share allowed her by law under the will. His two sons received $5
each.

BISHOP SEEKS TO POSTPONE PROBE

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Bishop
James Cannon, Jr., who is facing renewed demands for his resignation in the Methodist College of Bishops meeting in Nashville today, has asked the Nye committee of the senate to postpone its investigation of his expenditures in the 1928 presidential campaign.

The committee had asked Bishop
Cannon to appear here on May 6, inasmuch as the Bishop, who has been on the west coast for months,
is not under subpoena the committee may decide to go ahead with its investigation anyway.

PROBE LION'S ATTACK ON CHILD

While six-year-old Vivian Leisch-ner, Cincinnati, O., schoolgirl, is recovering from scratches and other injuries received when a lioness being used in a school lecture attacked her, authorities are investigating the case. William

REPORT REBEL FORCES AT FUNCHAL SURRENDER

Revolted Yield As
Loyalist Troops
Gain Victory

LISBON, May 2.—The rebel forces which have held Funchal, capital of the Madeira Islands, for several weeks in defiance of the Portuguese government have surrendered, it was stated in an official communique issued by the administration of President Oscar Carmona today.

The surrender, the communique
stated, followed an intensive attack
by federal infantry against Funchal. Loyal troops, aided by airplanes, drove the insurrectionists
back in wild disorder, it was said.
The Funchal rebellion flared up several weeks ago when a revolutionary junta under General Sousa
Diaz seized control of the city, ejecting federal officials. The rebels announced their determination to remain in control until President Carmona relinquished
his dictatorship and consented to parliamentary elections.

The revolt subsequently spread to the Azores and other Portuguese
island possessions but was stamped out everywhere within a few days
except at Funchal.

President Carmona sent a message of congratulations to the minister of the navy, who directed
federal operations at Funchal.

Fears of a revolt in Portugal,
aroused by a serious outbreak yesterday, have now been dispelled,
it was said in authoritative quarters. Three persons were killed,
twenty wounded and scores arrested
in the fighting.

SPRING BARRIER ON LIBERTY RACE

RENO, Nevada, May 2.—Nevada's
six weeks divorce marathon
got away to a flying start here
today.

Opening his office at 6 a. m.,
three hours ahead of regular schedule, County Clerk E. H.
Beemer, started the long grind
which is expected to see 300 or more suits filed before he closes
the doors at 5 p. m. this evening.

Four attorneys were on hand to file suits when Beemer officially threw down the barrier to start
the "liberty race."

While no line had formed early today, it was expected that the late risers would be forced to take turns in filing later in the day despite the fact six filing clerks had been arranged and a special mechanical device installed to handle the numbering and timing
of the complaints.

PRISONER DIES

COLUMBUS, O., May 2.—Anthony Weber, of Lima, died last night from pneumonia at Ohio
penitentiary where he was serving
a term for manslaughter, prison officials stated today. Weber was sentenced to the penitentiary in connection with the death of Moy-
sen Stevely, two-year-old child,
who was run down by a hit-and-
run motorist.

CLUB IS RAIDED

CHICAGO, May 2.—Fourteen prohibition agents swooped down
on the Breakfast Club on the north side here today, arrested seven employees and confiscated beer
and liquor and fixtures valued at more than $50,000.

The agents were compelled to break down a door to get in, after repeated knocks failed to bring response.

PROGRESSIVES MAY ENTER CANDIDATES IN G. O. P. PRIMARY

Plan Offers First Opposition To Hoover Nomination

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The first threat of real opposition to the renomination of President Hoover
was discovered today in the development of a campaign to enter progressive candidates against him
in the Republican presidential primaries next year.

There has been widespread agitation among the progressives for entering Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, Senator Johnson (R) of California, Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, and Senator La Follette,
Jr. (R) of Wisconsin in the Republican presidential race. If the progressive rank and file has its way, these progressive leaders will be candidates for the Republican nomination next spring.

Rumors that progressives will fight the renomination of Mr.
Hoover and seek to enter a number of "favorite sons" against him in state primaries, were confirmed by Senator Brookhart (R) of Iowa.
Brookhart, who was one of the President's outspoken supporters in 1928, has broken with Mr. Hoover.

"There is considerable agitation
among the progressives for launching a campaign to nominate a progressive next year on the Republican ticket," said Brookhart. "Progressive candidates should run
against the President in every state having a direct presidential primary. It is barely possible we could win enough states to nominate a progressive."

"Governor Pinchot certainly can carry Pennsylvania while Borah, Johnson, Norris and La Follette
could each carry his own state.
Any one of them could carry Illinois, Indiana and Ohio against Mr.
Hoover under existing conditions.
I think Indiana and Illinois would be easy ground for a progressive victory."

"I realize the President's friends are entrenched in the south, but Senator Borah has a strong following in every southern state and might well carry some of them
in convention. Then, young Bob La Follette is strong in the northwest
as is Norris, too, and they could take a few more states."

"Standpaters and regular Republicans are saying every day that Mr. Hoover hasn't a Chinaman's chance of being re-elected. It is well within reason they will help to nominate a progressive if they share the same premonition of defeat on the eve of the convention."

From other sources, it was learned the progressives intend to continue their "educational campaign" throughout the summer and next winter. As a matter of fact,
they have been campaigning this spring with more vigor than either
the administration or Democratic ranks. A progressive speaker has taken the stump almost daily since
the adjournment of congress and there will be no lull in their drive
for public support.

The progressives feel they can win the agricultural west against both administration and Democratic opponents, particularly if the prices of farm products fail to increase. They also feel the unemployment cycle has given them the ardent support of organized labor.
And lastly, they feel the general public shares the sentiment of their leader—Senator Norris—"that it is time we have another Roosevelt
in the White House."

meaning, another Theodore Roosevelt.

FEAR MANIAC IS ABROAD ON SHIP

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 2.—No
further word had been received
today from the freighter Santa Cecilia. Since a radio message was sent from the ship saying
there was an armed maniac running amuck on the vessel it was thought that the maniac may have disabled the ship's radio equipment.
The message sent by the radio
operator of the ship said:

"Santa Cecilia needs aid. Are naval vessels near us? We have a maniac aboard, armed and violently insane."

The operator did not give the position of the ship but it was believed to be off the coast of lower California.

POLICEMAN SHOTS TWO IN GUN BATTLE

NEW YORK, May 2.—While a score of passers-by fashionably
dressed guests looked on, a lone policeman stared a desperate gun
battle with three bandits today in a mid-town cafe.

When the gun smoke cleared,
one bandit was dead, another wounded and the patrolman lay on the cafe floor, seriously wounded.

The three bandits accompanied by a girl lookout, who fled during the shooting, had lined up the guests and was collecting their valuable, when Patrolman Bernard Sherry entered and began shooting.

The patrolman was pronounced
in serious condition from an abdominal wound.

WITNESS IS SLAIN

After a sensational gun battle
near the spot in Chicago where Alfred Lingie, reporter, was slain,
Frank Jordan, top, wanted as a bank bandit, has been indicted for the death of Traffic Policeman
Anthony Ruffy, who once indicted Frankie Foster as the man he saw fleeing after Lingie was shot, later declaring he had been mistaken. Jordan shot Ruffy and seriously wounded Patrolman Patrick Enright, below, who was trying to arrest him.

BARBERS' LICENSE BILL VETOED; SAYS LAW NOT NECESSARY

Governor Reverses Original Opinion On Measure

COLUMBUS, O., May 2.—After
"more investigation and mature reflection," Gov. George White today vetoed the Ackerman barbers'
license bill which he had previously indicated he would sign.

Admitting he signed a letter
last July "promising to sign a measure somewhat similar," the governor declared in his veto message that further study convinced
him that a law of the type proposed by Senator Joseph N. Ackerman (R) of Cleveland, is not needed.

"I had been led to believe that the proposed measure was a needed health regulation, but it
now appears that the present bill
weakens, if anything, the existing health and sanitary regulations of barber shops and barbers," the governor said.

As to health regulation and
sanitary requirements which back-ers of the measure declared are needed, and which they said the bill would provide, "I shall instruct the director of health to institute such additional measures
as may be needed to protect the public to the fullest degree," the governor added.

Governor White's veto ended a legislative fight for a law creating a barbers' licensing board which supporters believed was to be successful after years of failure. Many previous general assemblies have killed similar bills in committee
or defeated them.

BURNS UP LIFE SAVINGS!

Columbus Woman Admits Destroying Money
To Spite Her Husband

COLUMBUS, O., May 2.— Belle Albanese, 40, was held by police for observation
today after she voluntarily related to them that she burned
$4,000 of her husband's life
savings following a quarrel
with him.

Mrs. Albanese appealed to protection from her husband, Joseph Albanese, declaring
she feared he would harm her
after he discovered the loss of the money.

She said she withdrew the money from a savings account
and burned it in a kitchen

FATHER KILLS THREE SONS, SHOOTS SELF

Depression Unsettled
Mind, Say Police;
Wife Is Spared

GARFIELD, N. J., May 2.—
John Lubic, 46 years old,
formerly the owner of a small
confectionary business, shot
and killed his three sons early today and then killed himself.

The dead are: John Lubic,
the father Arthur Lubic, 11
years old; Emil Lubic, 12
years of age and John Lubic,
Jr., 4 years old.

Business depression had unsettled the father's mind, accord-

REPUTED LORD OF CLEVELAND VICE WOUNDED

Victim Refuses To Talk
After Attack By
Two Assailants

CLEVELAND, May 2.—Jack
Montana, 34, reputed vice lord
of Cleveland's "Little Hollywood"
district, and known as an underworld
figure in Lorain, was shot and critically wounded here today as he attempted to escape an attack of two men who stopped him in front of his apartment building.

Attaches at Polyclinic Hospital
stated it was doubtful if Montana would live. He was shot through the right lung and right arm.

Montana, fighting with one chance in fifty against death, refused to name his assailants when questioned by police. In the meantime, a well-known underworld
character was picked up for questioning by authorities.

The suspect, police said, was slashed in the face by a knife
wielded by Montana several weeks ago when the two men fought over
a woman in a speakeasy.

According to witnesses, Montana
grappled with his two assailants
and when he broke away from them, one of the men whipped out
his revolver and shot at the fleeing Montana. The wounded man fell to the ground and later staggered into a restaurant nearby
where he cried: "Please call somebody. I've been shot, I'm dying."

Police, although without definite information as to a motive for
the shooting, indicated that they believed it was a result of gang-
land animosity.

Montana has a police record and
at one time served a sentence at Michigan state prison on a larceny charge, police said.

CAPTURE MAD MAN NEAR LIMA

Will Punish Pair For Slaying

LIMA, O., May 2.—An atmosphere of tenseness prevailed at the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane here today as authorities considered what action will be taken in the punishment of two inmates who strangled a guard to death and then made a desperate attempt to flee from the institution.

One of the convicts was captured
as he started to crawl to freedom
through a window of the asylum
shortly after the body of Louis Kiehl, 49, a guard, was found strangled to death in a laboratory.
He was John Powell, 24, committed here from Cleveland.

Samuel Nelson, 19, Negro, brought here from Columbus, was the other mad man. He succeeded in making good his freedom but it was of short duration. Posses of searchers who scoured the countryside found him late yesterday in a field eight miles from the hospital.
He was taken into custody without resistance.

Effective precautionary measures and wholesale arrests of agitators considerably checked the
more violent tendencies, but in the latter part of the day police were unable to maintain order.

The chief disorders occurred in Spain, Poland and Portugal. A movement against the dictatorship
of President Carmona apparently wove itself into the May Day activities in Portugal.

The Spanish republic, largely devoting itself to rejoicing over the overthrow of the monarchy,
reported two deaths.

A clash between Reds and police at Warsaw cost two lives. Another demonstrator was killed in the Polish city of Kutno, while many were wounded and scores
arrested.

Two were killed in Lisbon when republican guards fired a machine gun volley into noisy rioters, and another fatality occurred during International Labor Day disturbances at Oporto.

Paris reported only minor
clashes, but 500 Communist leaders were arrested early in the day. A policeman was shot and seriously wounded in Berlin, where fifty persons were placed under arrest.

In the Balkans, Communist activities were firmly suppressed, but seventy were arrested in Sofia. At Budapest, ten demonstrators were injured in clashes with police.

GANG CHIEF BLAMED FOR TORCH SLAYING OF RIVAL GANGSTER

Capone Aides Held; Government Has Indicted 23

CHICAGO, May 2.—Arrest
Al Capone!

That was the order issued
today by Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office, after establishing that the charred body
of a man found in an ice
house pyre near Barrington
was that of "Mike De Pike," Heitler, notorious vice monster here for thirty-five years.
Roche declared that Heitler's murder came as a result of his break with the west side Capone
booze and vice syndicate.

Detectives with information that the Gang chieftain was making the rounds of the Cabarets early today
were scouring the night haunts of Cicero and Chicago.

In one of a series of raids last night, a squad under Lieut. William Blum crashed through the doors of Capone's private Suite at the Lexington Hotel on the south side
and arrested four of the gangster's armed aides. They were:

Phil D'Andrea, Capone's bodyguard; Tony Capozzi, "circuitous gang
leader," Lewis, brother of "machine gun" Jack McGurn and Fred Petito.

Two raids preceded the invasion of the Capone suite, when four, including Tony Accardo, a Capone
henchman, were arrested.

In ordering the arrest of Capone,
Pat Roche declared the mystery surrounding the identity of the torch victim had been solved.
Roche seized documents in the Heitler home, which were believed to contain evidence of politico-
criminal alliance.

It was believed the papers may reveal a murder motive.

Heitler's disappearance was noted yesterday when his lawyer
appeared in criminal court to ask
a continuance of a perjury charge against the racketeer. He said Heitler had been missing since Wednesday.

Almost simultaneously, Police Chief W. MacClay of Itasca, fifteen miles from Chicago, reported the finding of a partly burned car, which Heitler had borrowed from Miss Emily Melcher with whom he resided for twenty-three years. A gun with six discharged cartridges was found in the rear seat of the machine. The heat of the car is believed to have exploded the cartridges.

The charred body was buried yesterday, but was to be exhumed
today and brought to the county
mortuary where efforts will be made to make a positive identification.

CHICAGO, May 2.—The United States government struck another blow against the Capone booze
syndicate and gangland in general here today with the indictment of twenty-three alleged followers of Al Capone, charging them with violation of the national prohibition law.

Principal figures named in the indictments are Bert Delaney, said to be in charge of Capone's beer
business; Steve Svoboda, a
brewmaster; Martin Accardo,
brother of Tony Accardo, Capone
gangster, and John Mattheis.

The indictments were based on recent raids, two of which were
on Capone breweries which were valued at $75,000 and seized. They are regarded as another step in the purpose of United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson to smash the Capone trust.

Martin Accardo and Mattheis are accused of trying to force Capone
alcohol on Richard Seifert, a suburban saloonkeeper at Glenview, a suburb.

TWO ARRESTED IN GEM THEFTS

NEW YORK, May 2.—Mrs. Caspar Whitney, social and political leader, was listed today as one of the victims of a series of daring gem thefts. Two men were under arrest accused of robbing the Whitney home of $10,000 in gems.

Bandits also obtained $75,000 in
uncut diamonds when they held up David Rothschild at his place of business and the home of Robert R. Livingston yielded $8,000 in jewels.

Fright resulting when he was
held up was blamed for the death
of Richard Dickinson, 60, of White Plains, N. Y. He died shortly after he was found on top of an apartment building, his arms around his body. He was believed robbed while collecting rents.

SLAYER IS BURIED

HAMILTON, O., May 2.—Funeral services were to be conducted here today for Charles King, Hamilton barber, who was executed in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary Thursday night
for the murder of his son, Robert. Burial will be made on the lot beside the bodies of his wife and four children, killed when King
asphyxiated them in their home
here eighteen months ago.

FOR HOME FOLKS

Bryan Untiedt's box camera has played a big part in his memorable visit to Washington and the White House, for the young hero
has recorded everything he can in snapshots to show the folks and playmates back in Colorado. Bryan is shown here strolling in White House grounds with his camera.

EIGHT FATALITIES REPORTED IN WAKE OF MAY DAY RIOTING

Many Injured In European Capitals
On Friday

LONDON, May 2.—Eight fatalities, scores of injuries and hundreds of arrests were recorded in the wake of May Day demonstrations in European capitals.

Effective precautionary measures and wholesale arrests of agi-
tators considerably checked the

D. C. FLOWERS FARM IS SOLD SATURDAY

The D. C. Flowers farm, composed of 142.55 acres and situated on the Cincinnati Pike, two and one-half miles west of Xenia, was sold at public auction at the Court-house Saturday morning to the Virginia Joint Stock Land Bank, Charleston, W. Va., the real estate having been involved in a foreclosure action in which the Charleston bank was the plaintiff. The purchaser bid in the property at two-thirds of the appraised value of $60 an acre, or approximately $5,700. With the sale went an undivided one-half interest in thirty-five acres of growing wheat.

RESCUE EFFORTS MEET SETBACKS

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, May 2.—Efforts of an Icelandic expedition to send a seaplane to the rescue of Augustine Courtland, British meteorologist marooned on the interior ice cap of Greenland, met with a setback today.

The seaplane attached to the Icelandic patrol boat Odin took off from an ice-foe about sixty miles from the ice barrier in Angmagalik Bay, but returned twenty-five minutes later, having encountered engine trouble. It was feared the expedition would have to return to Reykjavik.

The World War's results have piled up many more applications for admission to the Home than can be adequately accepted, it is said.

Drought and unemployment are said to have combined to increase the suffering and hardships of veterans, forcing them to ask more than the customary amount of help for children.

Considerable damage, the amount being unestimated by firemen, was caused by fire which destroyed a portion of the roof of a two-story brick building occupied by the Orient Hill Grocery, 520 S. Monroe St., at 10:15 a. m. Saturday.

The building belongs to Mrs. Melbie Lighthiser and the grocery is managed by H. W. Lighthiser.

Sparks from a fire ignited the roof, according to firemen, who had the flames extinguished in short order.

THANKS

Xenia, Ohio, April 30, 1931.

Editor, Gazette:

Xenia Grange, No. 1788 sends a vote of thanks for your publications of the games of Xenia Grange basket ball also for their meetings.

Respectfully yours, Secy. of Xenia Grange No. 1788

Xenia, O., April 27, 1931.

Editor, Gazette:—

I listened in on President Hoover's speech at Knoxville, Tenn.

Among the things he said was this: "We must and will find the solution of this farm problem."

So after he became President he appointed the farm board. They then built their plan, which has been in operation ever since with the result that prices have been getting lower and lower ever since.

Evidently their logic has been wrong. Evidently they must get some other plan soon or agriculture will go more than broke.

What if the farm board had, instead of buying grain and other things, made this proposition to the countries owing us money: "Come to our markets, buy what you want of our farm products; for every two dollars worth you buy we will credit you with one dollar in interest."

They would not have the three hundred and fifty million bushels of wheat on their hands.

They would not have the money tied up, and our surplus of products would be gone and we would be ready for another crop.

That would be true reciprocity. How good we would feel having done a good deed of generosity to the nations who need it, having relieved ourselves of the surplus that is bothering us, having cleared the way to start the wheels turning and fill the dinner pail once more. Give the farmer a living price for his products and he will start the wheels, because he has many needs for the things made in the shops.

Fix conditions so he can buy and you in town will be busy not short time, but over-time. Keep on starving him and the cities will not be able to fill the community chest.

Think it over.

C. K. Wolf.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Governor Roosevelt today made tentative plans to sail Wednesday for Paris, where his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, is ill with influenza. He will remain abroad only a week or ten days, the governor said, and will attend the governor's conference in Indiana early in June.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him. But he that hateth his brother is in darkness even until now.—I John 1, 10, 11.

HAVING TROUBLE

According to a story which comes through from the good town of Istanbul, Turkey, President Mustapha Kemal is having a difficulty seldom encountered by dictators. He cannot develop a party of opposition in parliament to act as a check on his own party's seven-year tenure of dictatorship. Kemal wanted at least thirty independently chosen deputies and he got none.

Whether this outcome was due to general satisfaction with Kemal Pasha's regime or was the result of a certain diffidence among the Turks about openly and formally opposing an established regime, the brief dispatch does not say.

The disappointment of the Turkish dictator over the result of the election may be considered genuine. It always has been quite evident that Kemal Pasha in making himself absolute for the time being, has been using his power as a means to an end, and that his purpose is not the perpetuation of despotism in his country, but the emergence of constitutionalism with as much of free government as may be possible.

To establish constitutionalism he must promote free thought and free speech where neither ever have existed, and where subversion to established authority or open rebellion against it have been the political alternatives.

Unless Kemal is able to do this in some degree before his hand leaves the national helm, there will be a grave danger that a great part of the work he has done for his nation may be lost.

THE ENEMY

Augusto Sandino has been declared by the chief magistrate of the United States to have "placed himself and his band outside the civilized pale by the cold-blooded murder of eight or nine American civilians and many Nicaraguans at isolated places in the interior" of Nicaragua.

Yet the Anti-Imperialist league of the United States has the audacity to appeal to "workers and all anti-imperialists" within our borders to give moral and material aid to Sandino. A statement issued by the league shortly after Mr. Hoover's denunciation of the Nicaraguan outlaw says in part:

"While Sandino and his army of liberation carry on the fight for national liberation it is our duty to support them in spite of Sandino's past vacillations and his lack of a clear anti-imperialist program. We must denounce his representative, Dr. Zepeda, who again and again proposes peace between Sandino and American imperialism. And we must demand of Sandino a categorical answer as to his representative's declarations."

Which is the greater menace to this country: Augusto Sandino, who, we take it from this admission by his American well-wishers, would like to sell out to the United States, at his own price; or the Anti-Imperialist league of the United States, which is aiding and abetting a bandit outlawed by his own government and denounced by ours as the murderer of American civilians?

Other Editorial Thoughts

A BLOW AT RED BAITING

As a result of Judge Wanamaker's ruling at Akron recently, the Supreme Court of Ohio undoubtedly will render an opinion as to the constitutionality of his state's criminal syndicalism law.

The case against Paul F. Kassay, accused of plotting to wreck the giant naval Zeppelin now building, was dismissed by Judge Wanamaker on the ground that the syndicalism law is unconstitutional. The Summit county prosecutor will appeal this case to the State Supreme Court.

The Akron ruling is all the more impressive because of Judge Wanamaker's distinguished war record. He was the first American aviator shot down behind the German lines. Certainly he can not be accused of any lack of patriotism or any lack of desire to protect this country from its enemies, without or within.

Judge Wanamaker holds that "mere talk, in and of itself alone, unattended by evil consequences that might reasonably be expected to flow therefrom, cannot be made by law a crime in Ohio." We hope, and believe, that Judge Wanamaker is right. If the guarantees of free speech in the state constitution mean anything, they ought to mean just that.

In the Akron case there was no evidence at all that Kassay's alleged conversation about damaging the Zeppelin had actually resulted in any damage to the Zeppelin or ever was likely to. Of course, if he had destroyed or weakened any part of the airship, or if he had said anything that resulted in destructive acts by others, he could have been punished without invoking the syndicalism law.

Whether Kassay is a Communist, or a sympathizer with Communism, does not seem to have been established definitely, and has no proper bearing on the matter, anyway. He charged that he was the victim of a "frame-up." It appears quite as likely that he is mentally unbalanced.

The grave danger of the syndicalism law is the temptation it puts before hysterical prosecutors to indict and try members of unpopular minority groups for any kind of aggressive political or economic utterance distasteful to the majority in a particular community. That has been the case in all previous prosecutions under this statute, though Kassay was indicted under special circumstances.

There has always been plenty of law to punish the instigators of mob violence in political or economic disputes, wherever prosecuting authorities had the will to invoke it. But the Ohio syndicalism law, until now, has been invoked exclusively against persons whose economic and political views subjected them to prejudice, and this has been the history of similar laws in other states.

Red-baiting prosecutors are quick to see in the ordinary language of political debate an incitement to violence—when that language comes from the lips of unpopular speakers. The same belligerent metaphors, spoken by Democrats or Republicans who exhort their followers to "fight" for this or that, is never challenged.

The Ohio Legislature never should have passed the criminal syndicalism law. The present session of the Legislature should have repealed it while it had the opportunity. Now, through the action of a wise and courageous young judge, there is good reason to believe that it will be wiped from the statutes by a Supreme Court decision. — Columbus Citizen.

HAM AND PEANUTS

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.—Old Dave Warfield lolls back in his palatial home on Central Park West and dabbles in dreams of yesteryear. And like most men, on their way down the far side of The Slope, hearing the shadows, he was a dolorous head and says: "Life isn't what it used to be."

Warfield who is in the major sixties says he'll never return to the stage.

"Why should I?" he asks. "I've got my bag of peanuts. I don't want any more."

It may seem a "bag of peanuts" to him; but with his ready holdings and all, it shapes up more in the nature of a whole peanut-stand-whistle and all.

Warfield, as an actor, was much overrated. His work embraced much of that mediocrity which, on the authority of Thackeray, always insures success.

CANNY GENEROSITY

A New York divine several Sabbaths since called upon those of Scottish descent in the congregation to rise, and then asked them not to be Scotch when the collection plate got around.

Several days later Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald told a gathering of students in Elgin, Scotland, that a woman friend of his, who had passed most of her life working for charities, had assured him that whenever an appeal was made for some great national purpose more contributions came anonymously from Aberdeen than from any other town in the world.

The Scotch aren't stingy. They're thrifty. Your average open-handed spender—your prodigal dispenser of largesse—usually winds up by asking somebody to split the bill with him.

Usually, the "good fellow" is a good fellow at somebody else's expense.

The Scotch are canny, sure enough; but their caution is trimmed always, to the exactions of the wonderful link known as Self Respect.

WHAT MEN LIKE

There's a feud on between New York barbers and beauty shop proprietors. The beauty culturists say their objection is ethical. They think it isn't "nice" for women to invade the privacy of men's barber shops—that men object to having women present while they're coiffured, coiffed and lathered.

The barbers counter by saying that they don't kick about men who go to beauty parlors for treatment and why should the beauty parlor people try to interfere with women who invade barber shops—and like it?

"Men like to have women around them, wherever they are," say the barbers.

When the beauty culturists think up an answer to that one, the battle will be resumed.

RECIPE FOR SUCCESS

Mr. Chase levels a lance at the "ghost writer" and those who "boil the pot" with the expectation that they will accumulate their pile and then write like a house afire about the things they really want to write about.

It cannot be done, he warns. "A co-ordinated and calculated flow of second-rate work is more than likely to poison the original spring."

There's no royal road to success in writing. Hard work, travail, honesty. There's no other way.

THE PEANUT VENDOR

MRS. ALICE LONGWORTH NOT LIKELY CANDIDATE FOR VICE PRESIDENCY

—CHARLES P. STEWART—

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The Red Wing (Minn.) Republican's editorial nomination of Mrs. Alice Longworth for the vice presidential place on next year's G. O. P. national ticket is stimulating to the imagination if nothing else.

The chances are an indefinite number to one that it is nothing else.

Except that she usually has been accommodating to news photographers who desired her picture, Mrs. Longworth always has shown decidedly less than no desire at all, even for publicity (let alone political honors) necessitating the slightest co-operative effort on her own part. And of course a vice presidential publicity raised to the "nth" power, besides a tremendous amount of hard work.

It is about as wild a suggestion as one easily can think of on short notice. Nevertheless, it is possible to conjure up reasons, of a theoretical sort, why the lady's widow might think more willingly of a personal entrance into public life henceforward than when she shared in all its interests through her husband.

For one consideration, there is no question that she was punctilious never to interfere in the slightest with the full glare of the political limelight upon Speaker Longworth.

In her widowhood, the occasion for her to remain in the background is gone.

Moreover, in point of actual fact she did possess great influence and undoubtedly enjoyed it, perhaps as much as her father enjoyed power in his day. Alone, unless she herself embarks upon a career, it inevitably will wane.

The idea of a woman vice presidential nominee is not new—not among ardent feminists. They frequently have mentioned it as the likeliest way by which they surmise, the country may yet find itself with its first woman president in the White House; or, at any rate, accustomed to the thought of having a woman at the head of the administration.

It must be admitted that the ultra-feminists have spoken somewhat bitterly of Mrs. Longworth hitherto.

The complaint I have heard them make of her is that, with every qualification for leadership of their political activities, she has ignored them completely—to the extent, for example, of refusing a place on the Republican national committee when it was definitely offered to her.

As a practical proposal, the part that Mrs. Longworth certainly could, if she would, play in national affairs is not seriously discussed. It would be the least probability of anything of the kind, but no one does believe it.

No other vice presidential prospect of her sex is even remotely hinted at, at present.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick was rumored to have had ambitions in that direction, while still hopeful of election to the senate. It is hardly needful to say that they were blighted, however, by last November's result in Illinois, not only with the victory of James Hamilton Lewis, but with the termination also of Mrs. McCormick's career in the house of representatives.

Although it may be too soon for a woman vice president, the feminine delegation in congress has developed into a highly capable one.

With their re-election last fall, Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California, Mrs. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey and Mrs. Edith Housie Rogers of Massachusetts will start, at the beginning of the next session, each upon her fourth term in the house of representatives. All are recognized as among the ablest legislators in Washington.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida and Mrs. Ruth Pratt of New York, with a term each behind them, likewise have established reputations for efficiency.

Mrs. Effie Wingo of Arkansas is not yet so well known, having succeeded her husband, the late Representative Otis Wingo, only toward the end of the last session, but returns to the Seventy-second congress by a large majority.

Next winter's list of congresswomen, however, will not be quite so long as the last one.

Mrs. McCormick's senatorial aspirations cost her her seat. Mrs. Pearl Peden of Oldfield of Arkansas, tired of public life and was not a candidate for renomination.

Mrs. Katherine Langley of Kentucky was beaten for re-election, a Republican victim of last fall's Democratic landslide throughout a large part of the country.

Thus the group of nine which saw last March's adjournment shrink to six who will answer next December's initial roll call.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

—By MRS. MARY MORTON—

Let's see, Green Onion, Radish, Salad, Cake

Tea This menu is designed for a Sunday evening supper or luncheon.

Today's Recipes

"Individual Pigs"—Have as many large slices of cold boiled ham as "pigs" wanted, on each slice heap cooked spaghetti to which has been added a chopped green pepper, one teaspoon of Worcester-shire sauce, a little onion juice and enough mayonnaise to moisten well. Now roll up the slice over mixture and skewer with toothpicks. Place a slice of bacon over each and put in a hot oven until heated through and the bacon is crisp. Toss parsley in each end and serve a slice of sautéed pineapple. With the addition of a candied sweet potato and some buttered peas on the same plate, this makes an appetizing luncheon.

Suggestions

Cleaning Stove Pipe To clean the lustrous aluminum stove pipe wipe off with coal oil on a soft cloth. Then use a dry cloth.

Keep Hall Spick and Span First impressions are quite likely to be lasting ones. Dust the drawing room all you will. Its spotlessness may not shake a guest's conviction—gained in the hall—that you are a careless housekeeper.

Hasty, Tasty Sandwich For each person, beat an egg in a cup, add salt and pepper, fry in small skillet. When done on one side sprinkle chipped dried beef, about a teaspoon, on top, turn and fry lightly. Place on buttered slice of bread and place another buttered slice on top.

Premature Adulthood Explained

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.—

There is a six-year-old boy in northern Ohio who is normal in height and weight for his years. He weighs 84 pounds and is three and one-half feet tall. But he has a heavy beard, speaks in a deep bass voice, and smokes large heavy cigars.

You might think this was just an amusing curiosity. But you wouldn't if you happened to be the boy's parents. It is difficult to get him into school: the presence of a bearded basso cigar smoker in the first grade upsets discipline. Equally does the presence of a six-year-old boy in the university cause objection.

That is one of the things the ductless glands can do. In this case it seems to be the pineal gland, which is found in the skull growing from the upper part of the brain. For a long time anatomists thought the pineal gland was the vestigial remains of the third eye of the lower vertebrates, found in some reptiles and amphibians. But that concept has been to a considerable extent abandoned.

When its secretion is increased as in the case of the Ohio lad, it stimulates to rapid maturation of the individual, bringing on the adult state at a very precocious period.

Like another ductless gland, the thymus, it atrophies as age advances and probably completely disappears after the thirtieth year. During this process it becomes converted into sand or lime and can be seen as a shadow on an X-ray plate. This shadow is seen in certain patients who have extreme muscular weakness early in life and leads to the conclusion that the early atrophy of the gland is responsible for the muscular changes.

Of all the ductless glands, however, we know the least about the pineal.

MEDICAL "THINGS I DIDN'T KNOW UNTIL NOW."

"How many moles on the average adult's back?" asks the editor of Hygiea. He answers—"Five."

One physician signed the Declaration of Independence—Benjamin Rush.

One hundred years ago, 1831, chloroform was discovered.

Malaria kills more people than any other disease.

A German physician believes that chemical fertilizers are responsible for increase in high blood pressure.

A patient in Spokane paid his doctor bill when it was 20 years old and had been rendered 240 times.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

E. J. Kansas City: "Will you tell me what foods have any effect on psoriasis, especially corn and tomatoes?" Answer: No set rule or formula can be laid down for all cases of psoriasis. The diet prescription depends upon the general condition of the patient. A trail anemic girl will obviously require a different diet from a robust, full-blooded man. In general the diet should be simple with limitation of nitrogenous articles, especially red meats. Bulkley advises a vegetarian diet. Corn and tomatoes do not have unfavorable effects.

Faith Dies When Mate Is Untrue

—By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE—

"Dear Virginia Lee: I have been married 15 years and very much in love with my husband. We have three sweet, beautiful children."

"I have had a young lady whom we thought ideal in our home quite often. She is very active in church work of all kinds. To my surprise I saw her in my husband's arms and heard him making love to her and kissing her very passionately. This has been the hardest blow I've ever had. I have been true blue and played a fair game. The so-called 'home-wrecker' is not pretty or attractive, though talented in music, which my husband enjoys. He plays and sings beautifully."

"I have no talents. I'm a home-loving old-fashioned mother. I believed everyone was good. I am so 'Broken Hearted Mother.' I must tell my troubles to someone. What's best for me? Something in my being has died a horrible death. Can it be love? Tell me, please, what would be best? Leave him and forget, or stay with him and try to forgive?"

"Time alone can tell whether your love died when you found your husband was untrue, dear mother. Your faith in human nature died, I am afraid. You'll never be perfectly sure of another human being's truth. You always will have a doubt that no matter how good and sweet people seem they may prove false. That is tragedy enough."

Do nothing hastily. Give yourself time to get over the shock and pray for wisdom to see your way. Does your husband know your way? Has he admitted that he loves this girl—made any excuses?

There is a philosophy that says every wife should expect such philanderings from a husband. It maintains that man is a polygamous animal and making love to more than one woman at a time is natural and excusable. I don't believe that. I think one woman made enough. Millions of good men are true to their wives, just as the majority of women are true to their men until death.

On account of the children I hesitate to advise you to leave your husband, even if you find that your love for him is dead. If you could bring yourself to keep the matter from them and to maintain a home until they are grown, it would be best. Children suffer when their parents are divorced and the home broken.

It may seem like living a lie to go on as if nothing had happened when your heart is broken, but for the sake of one's children one can sacrifice a great deal.

If you can talk the matter over with your husband you may not feel quite so heart broken about the matter, and may be more able to forgive after a time, if not to forget, this incident.

Shorty: In answer to your first question: it is all right to ask a boy to come to your home if you have been out to heart broken about the matter, and may be more able to forgive after a time, if not to forget, this incident.

Do clothes make the girl? your fifth question. Not exactly, but every boy likes his girl to look nice when he takes her out. Six: If a home is friendly and young people have a good time in it, they will not mind the furniture being shabby, never even notice it. In fact, especially if it is "clean and tidy."

Gayle: I should say once a week is often enough for the boy to come to see you at present.

Jump Rope -- It's Best Of Exercise

—By GLADYS GLAD—

According to Yvonne, the lovely female partner in the well known "Yvonne and Robert" dancing team, the life of a dancer is certainly no bed of roses. For, in addition to daily rehearsals, the successful dancer must lead the life of a trained athlete. She must be careful of her diet at all times. She must obtain sufficient rest and relaxation. And, most important of all, she must exercise vigorously every day to keep her figure well proportioned and her body lithe and graceful.

In the opinion of the graceful Yvonne, rope jumping is just about one of the best little all-around exercises going. And the girl's right. For, with the exception of swimming, rope-skipping can do more to develop harmonious figure lines, and to make the body flexible and supple, than any other one exercise.

Rope-jumping is an important part of every pugilist's training. Pretend that you're a Jack Dempsey, or a Gene Tunney, preparing for a big championship bout. Cut yourself a piece of clothesline, and use it every day. Begin slowly, if you find yourself panting and gasping for breath after only a few jumps. Skip the rope for only a short time at first. Then gradually increase the length of the rope-jumping period. And relax the muscles of your entire body while you are jumping. Don't hunch up your shoulders, and stiffen your arms and neck muscles. Relax! Give your muscles a chance to work!

Rope-jumping is excellent for stimulating the circulation. It will send the blood coursing swiftly through your entire body. It will leave you as flushed and glowing as it does your kid sister, or your little daughter. And it will make you feel almost as young.

Skipping rope has other attributes, too. It will trim down those over-plump calves and ankles, and will shake off the soft fat around the hips and bust. It will harden the muscles of the back and waist. It will do away with the upper-arm flabbiness, and will increase the flexibility of the wrists.

Give a girl a jump rope. 'Tis the life of a dancer is certainly no bed of roses. For, in addition to daily rehearsals, the successful dancer must lead the life of a trained athlete. She must be careful of her diet at all times. She must obtain sufficient rest and relaxation. And, most important of all, she must exercise vigorously every day to keep her figure well proportioned and her body lithe and graceful.

by PhilLANGS DEFEAT WOOD BARBERS EASILY IN
FRIDAY NIGHT TILTWilliams Hurls Ably And Mates Clout Ball
Fiercely

To those fans who haven't quite forgotten all the pre-season hulla-balloo raised about the new and more "lively" ball being used in the two local softball leagues this season it may be of interest to know the Lang Chevrolet Co., 1930 city champions, collected sixteen hits of assorted dimensions to win the Wood's Barber Shop team, 15 to 3 in a National League game at Cox Field Friday night.

The important thing, however, about this particular contest was not so much the fact the city champions got away to a flying start in defense of their title—that was almost a foregone conclusion—but that the two teams played a full nine-inning game in the snappy time of an hour and five minutes.

This was the first time this season a league game had gone the regulation nine-innings.

After two scoreless innings the Falcon batting power, which had been dormant for the time being, asserted itself in the third and the contest quickly developed into a walk-away victory. Bill Bailey's clan scored one or more runs in each of the last seven innings.

The tail-end of the Lang batting order was responsible for most of the hitting. Lou McCoy, Falcon catcher, contributed four hits, one a double, in five times at bat, while Pitcher Harry Williams hit safely three times. The only homer of the contest was a circuit blow by Joe Smittle with none on in the fourth.

Williams served up a fine brand of ball for Langs and limited the Barbers to six hits, all singles. Of this number Mendenhall, third baseman, got two blows. Harry pitched shutout ball for five rounds but Wood's bunched three hits with an error to score twice in the sixth. The losers counted another in the ninth when Price reached second on an error and came all the way home when Finlay grounded out to "Happy" Davis, first baseman, who walked off the field, thinking the third out had been made.

Clarence Kelter, highly touted Wood's pitcher, was effective in the early innings but was hit hard thereafter.

The losing team played with only nine players in its lineup and was at a certain disadvantage all through the game. All of the players in the field would probably not have saved the situation Friday night.

There is no question, the Illinois principal says, about night football stimulating attendance "as letters from athletic directors will attest."

"If it has not been tried near you the curious alone will swell your crowd enough the first few games to pay for the equipment. Besides the curiosity seekers you will have hundreds of people who work every day and consequently rarely see a football game. People will even expect to pay a little more for night games, thinking more or less erroneously that playing at night is much more expensive. However, we did not raise the admission price. At a dance under ordinary circumstances will be ten-fold for the opening games and thereafter the day figures will be tripled."

"Many people have felt that the current consumption for night playing would be enormous; some venturing that it would run $50 a game. As a matter of fact that will be nearer your season's cost. Figure it out for yourself. Twenty-eight 1,000 watt bulbs burning two hours for a game consume fifty-six kilowatts. Multiply that by the six or seven-cent rate that you have in your city and you have the cost—probably $3.

CEDARVILLE LOSES
FIRST TENNIS TILT

Engaging in the first tennis match in the school's history, Cedarville College's net team was blanked by Antioch College racquet widders, 7 to 0 on the Cedarville court Sunday.

Antioch, in recording its fifth straight victory in intercollegiate tennis competition this spring, made a clean sweep of the four singles and one doubles matches. All were straight set victories.

The shutout victory was the second in a row for the Antiochians, who had previously whitewashed Capital University netters, 7 to 0.

In the singles matches, Hoerr (A) stroked his way to a 6-3, 7-5 triumph over Taylor, (C); Savage (A), defeated Kirkpatrick (C), 6-0, 6-0; Simms (A) disposed of W. (C), 6-0, 6-1; and Beckman (A), downed Collins (C), 6-2, 6-2.

The one doubles match of the program resulted in a 6-2, 6-2 victory for the Antioch combination of Hoerr and Ayres over Taylor and White of Cedarville.

WILBERFORCE WINS
FROM CEDARVILLE

Wilberforce University's base ball nine had a close call but managed to squeeze out a 9 to 8 triumph over Cedarville College baseballers on the Wilberforce diamond Friday afternoon.

The winners obtained thirteen hits against nine for the Borstmen, who were materially aided in scoring by the fact the "Force" was guilty of no less than seven errors. Cedarville played errorless ball all day.

Turner, ace of the Cedarville mound staff, was the losing hurler while Glover performed throughout on the hill for Wilberforce and received credit for the victory. Boyer waiving the plate for the Yellow Jackets with Redden on the receiving end of Glover's delivery.

ANNUAL MAY DAY FIELD EVENTS
ENJOYED BY SCHOOL CHILDREN

By BIRCH BELL

Annual May Day exercises were held at the Cox Memorial Athletic Field Friday with students from Central Senior and Junior High school, McKinley, Spring Hill, and Orient Hill grades taking part in various track and field events.

Afternoon attendance was checked at the various schools early and then the pupils were directed to Cox Field by the teachers. The school band was decked out in its blue and white uniforms for the event and played throughout the afternoon. A specialty dance by a feminine member of the second grade of Orient Hill was an added attraction.

The seniors won the senior high school meet with a total of eleven points. The juniors followed with nine and the freshmen tallied seven. Three points were awarded the winner of a first place, two for a second place, and one for a third place. The seniors won the meet by their victory in the relay race. In the junior high meet the eighth grade boys were victorious with fourteen points to their credit.

The seventh grade boys were close behind with eleven points.

In grade school events only first and second places were tallied. Awarding two points for first place and one point for second place would give the McKinley grades a 27 to 19 point victory over the Spring Hill grades, which finished second.

A real winner of the grade school events could not well be determined because McKinley has a larger group to choose from than the other schools. Central Bldg. would not stand a chance if this system was used because they have but two grades in that school. Orient Hill has but four. McKinley had twice as many entries in each event as any other school because of its double classes.

Prizes were awarded to those who finished first and second in the grade school events and to those who finished first in the senior and junior high school events.

The grade schools have been busy for the past few weeks coaching contestants as only three pupils were allowed to enter any one event from one section.

O. B. Bogart had charge of the events for the first three grades while B. F. Cranor took charge of the next three grades. Coaches W. C. Wilson and H. G. Patterson had charge of the senior and junior high events. At the close of the afternoon's program a softball game between the faculty and seniors resulted in a 10 to 8 victory for the teachers in a five-inning battle.

Winners of the senior high events were 50 yard dash—Foley, first; Huston, second, Limes, third; 100 yard dash—Short, first; Foley, second; Spahr, third; Shot Put—Price, first; Thompson, second; Fred Delton, third; Baseball Throw—Jane Fudge, first; Elizabeth Weinkart, second; Relay—seniors (Huston, Brannen, Spahr, Price).

The winners in the junior high events were: 50 yard dash—Muterspaw, first; Lampert, second; Adair, third; Shot Put—Malavazos, first; Glenn, second, Smith, third; 100 yard dash—Borton, first; Chaney, second, Malavazos, third; 50 yard dash (girls)—Funderburg, first; Smith, second, Thompson, third; Baseball Throw (girls)—Burke, first; Bowser, second, Rankin third; Bicycle Race—Cunningham, first; Diamond, second; Leveck, third; Jr. High Relay—won by eighth grade boys (Adair, Dawson, Chaney, Glenn).

CHICKENS STOLEN

E. A. Hartsook, farmer residing on the Cincinnati Pike below Spring Valley, reported to the sheriff's office that thieves who raided his poultry house sometime Friday night made off with sixty chickens of the Plymouth Rock variety. An investigation was made by a deputy of the office.

CHARLES DARWIN IS SUBJECT OF SKETCH
BEFORE STUDENTS

Prof. M. C. Otto, of the University of Wisconsin, addressed the students and faculty of Antioch College Friday on "The Schools and Charles Darwin."

Emphasizing his conclusion that the greatest reward of education was in the solving of "our own problems ourselves," Prof. Otto traced the life history of Darwin through his childhood to his entrance in Shrewsbury school in England, describing the famous naturalist and author of "The Origin of Species" and other books as a sensitive boy with an uncontrollable imagination.

"He was tender hearted and tender minded," Prof. Otto said. "He could not bear to see living things in pain and always remembered to his death any pain he happened to cause any person or animal."

"In school," he continued, "Darwin was always a failure. He went through part or all of three of the best schools in England—Shrewsbury, Edinburgh and Cambridge—without gaining anything but a superficial education. Even this he achieved only because of his memory which enabled him to get by without really having to learn anything. He showed interest only in subjects not included in the curricula of the schools and admitted after taking his degree from Cambridge that he was not fitted to enter the profession for which he had studied."

"However, soon after he was graduated, he was given an opportunity to make an exploration voyage to the southern part of South America. He finally overcame the objections of his father, who thought that he should settle down and become a typical professional man of the time. With his father's reluctant consent to his joining the exploring party his second and real education began."

"That trip was a new school to him. Away from books and professors and authority, he could observe things and think about them for himself. He could discover and solve his own problems; and that meant more to him than all the studying he did while in Shrewsbury, Edinburgh, or Cambridge."

"Being able to solve his own problems was the greatest thing for him, for it enabled him to learn what he never could have if he had stayed at home and tried to get knowledge out of books. When he had solved his problem, he knew that he was right, for he knew all about the problem; it had not come to him second hand. He had gained something. He had added something to the world."

Prof. Otto concluded by pointing out how everyone could use the same principle in life and thus more free and certain in thought and action. He illustrated his address with chalk drawings.

PRINCE MICHAEL
HAS PASSED CRISIS

BUCHAREST, May 2.—Crown Prince Michael, tenderly watched over by his mother, the former Princess Helen of Greece, today fought against a rising temperature induced by an attack of diphtheria.

Anti-diphtheria injections administered were used to check the infection, with physicians confident that the royal patient had passed the crisis safely.

While Princess Helen remained constantly at her son's bedside, King Carol left the sick-chamber after a lengthy vigil to attend an important political meeting at Timisoara.

READ THIS FIRST:

Mary Vaughn is private secretary to Ronald K. Foster, an investment banker of Wall Street. She supports her mother, twin brothers and younger sister, Bonnie, to whom she has always given the best of everything until Bonnie wants the man she loves, debonaire Dick Baldwin. Bonnie is the spoiled beauty of the family and makes it known that she does not intend to slave for a living all her days. Mary and Dick have had an understanding that as soon as Dick reaches a certain goal in business they will make more definite plans. Martin Frazier is Foster's wealthiest client, who persists in trying to pay attention to Mary until her employer asks her to be nice to him on business principles, so she humors him, going out with him occasionally. Frazier discovers that his attraction for Mary is quite different from that of his first analysis. He decides to go south for a month and think things out for which Mary is glad, as she does not like to go about with him. Bonnie lets Dick know about Mary's intentions, and she humors him, gradually gains favor with Dick with her insidious reports about Mary. She attends a studio party in Greenwich Village with Mary and Dick, at the home of Willa and Ramon Duchon, and tries to vamp all the men of the party. During the events of the evening, Dick accidentally reveals that he has been carrying a note of Bonnie's in his pocket for a month.

Mary fails to find the way back to the old camaraderie with Dick. When she goes to the office next morning, she finds a huge box of flowers from Frazier and a note saying that he has left an order for flowers for her twice a week.

Bonnie goes to New York to look for a position, "accidentally" meets Frazier and has lunch with him. Mary opens her second box of flowers from Frazier just as Dick stops to see her, misunderstands the situation and, augmented by Bonnie's information, he angrily tells Mary that he cannot compete with Frazier and leaves her. The world is shattered for Mary, and her silent grief is terrible, but she lets no one know about it. She still hopes that Dick might come back to her, until she learns that Bonnie is going about with him. Mary's employer learns of her disappointment and pities her. Willa asks Mary to spend the night with her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 29

"Now would I be asking you?" Willa laughed.

"All right, when?"

"Any night that suits you. Tomorrow?"

"Unless I have to work. I'll call you if I can't make it."

"Okay. Come right over from the office and stay the night."

Mary went. At sight of her, Willa gasped. "Child! you look really ill! Has it hit you so hard as that? I'd like to tell Dick what I think of him!"

"That wouldn't help," Mary said soberly. "I'll get over it sometime. That is—I hope I shall. He can't help not loving me."

"I wonder if he would know if he did."

Mary smiled wanly. "It would be a pity for him if he discovered it too late. But he may find it is Bonnie, after all."

"How is it with her?"

"I don't know, really. She is fascinated with him. I doubt if she could analyze her own emotions, herself."

"Too shallow for analysis," thought Willa. "Her kind never analyzes anything. They just skim the surface, take what they want. Mary is the kind that gives double for everything she takes."

They went downstairs where Ramon greeted Mary with warm friendliness. He wore an ink-daubed smock and there was a smudge of India ink on his forehead where an ink finger had reached up to rumple his bright, disordered hair. Willa smoothed it with her fingers, carelessly, as they commented on this and that, sitting on the arm of his chair.

Then the three of them prepared dinner. It seemed that everything in the Duchon household was done in co-operation. Ramon broiled the steaks, Mary prepared the combination salad, Willa arranged the table and made coffee. There were baked potatoes in the oven and pie in the refrigerator.

Willa explained her routine. "You see, we can't have a third person ambling around here under foot all day. We never could get our work done. Chloe, the maid, stays at home nights and gets here early to clean up downstairs. While we breakfast, late and leisurely, she does the upstairs rooms, then prepares and plans dinner in advance, and leaves us free with solitude and the afternoons and evenings. We like getting our dinner together. It's a good chance to relax, so we are fresh for the evening."

"You work evenings, too?" I thought only brokenly.

"Secretaries work evenings," Mary laughed with the first real interest she had displayed in ten days.

"Why, we often work most of the night, don't we darling?" Willa put her arm around her big aproned husband, absorbed with steak-broiling.

"Uh-hum. Then she thinks I should be up and at it early in the morning, too," he complained to Mary. But he didn't sound convincing.

"You know, at home I was always drilled with such maxims as 'The early bird catches the worm,' and 'Early to bed, early to rise.' If dad and mother knew the hours we keep they would wonder how we manage to exist. Fortunately, they are out in Kansas on a ranch and our lazy habits don't worry them."

"But you must work that way because you have discovered it is best," Mary suggested.

"Oh, sure. Their policy is just as good for them as mine is for me. Early mornings and when the body is rested, is the time for physical work. But mental work requires an alert brain. And your brain doesn't waken when you first stir around. The longer you're awake, the keener it gets. Events and impressions stimulate it. And there is something psychic about the early, night hours that you can't deny, even if you can't explain them. They are favorable to creative work."

"I've always wondered why I seem to have better ideas and accomplish more when I work late at the office, even when I am tired from the long day. Often, it seems to me as if the morning hours are practically wasted. If it weren't for opening the mail and watching the market open, there would be no need to get to work before noon."

"You see!" Willa exclaimed. "Ramon and I have often advocated that office hours for the people who do the responsible, creative work should be arranged like our days. But then, they would have no evenings for recreation, and that would never do. We do as we please. But on the whole, we do stick to business pretty faithfully. We don't expect to have to grind always, though. That is why it is easy to work hard now."

So the pleasant evening slipped away. They sat before the fire after dinner and sipped coffee. Willa wisely evaded further discussion of Dick. She guessed that Mary needed to forget him as much as possible. No doubt she had lived with only her work and her grief, day after day. So Mary had.

She went upstairs early, leaving her hosts to their "psychic" hours. The little guest room was a welcome change from the room shared with Bonnie and her misery.

It was quaintly furnished in maple, early American period, with a single four poster, chest of drawers, ladder-back chairs, flowered chintz curtains and coverlets, hooked rugs, a framed sample and two aquatints of old English scenes.

Its charm and peace enveloped Mary, like balm of healing herbs. She slept well. Chloe served her a delicious breakfast in the strange morning stillness of the big studio room and she walked the short distance to the L-station through the crisp air, feeling as if she had had a pleasant vacation from depressing duties and surroundings.

One of the most difficult things she had to endure these trying days, was to lie in her bed, with torturing wakefulness, and conscious that Dick's car was parked in the street below—that Bonnie was in his arms, that his lips were kissing Bonnie's now.

In spite of her knowledge, too, that he was unfaithful to her memory, that he wounded her pride by flaunting his desertion of her before her own family—she loved him.

All efforts to forget, self-incriminations, trying to remind herself that he was unworthy of her—were in vain. For one thing, she was grateful. Dick never came into the house when she was about. Just once, when she had retired, she heard his voice downstairs. All the agony of many days leaped back to her with increased force. Every sound of his deep, vibrant voice reverberated through her body. She wondered if Bonnie ever could know such a love for any man. She doubted it. In a way, she rather hoped that she wouldn't. If love was destined for such cruel sufferings as hers, better never to experience it.

The Theater

It is an interesting fact, though tragic to contemplate, that Miss Diane Ellis, the screen player, whose death under tragic circumstances was reported in this paper recently, appears at the Bijou Theater Sunday and Monday in all the semblance of life.

Miss Ellis, whose mother moved from Greene County to Los Angeles before her daughter was born, died while on her honeymoon with a wealthy bridegroom. Several aunts and cousins in Xenia and Greene County will, no doubt, be particularly interested in her screen appearances here.

Nancy Carroll

she grew up there, attended the public schools and then made her advent in pictures, playing the leading feminine roles in "Leatherneck" and "High Voltage" before the current offering here. Miss Carroll is further supported in this Paramount film by Frederick March, Frank Morgan, Glenn Anders, Leonard Carey and Ollie Burgoyne. The dialogue is by Donald Ogden Stewart.

While "Laughter" is opening the week at the Bijou, laughter will, no doubt, also abound at the Orpheum Theater on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday when Winnie Lightner and Joe E. Brown appear there in the Warner film, "Sit Tight." These mirth provokers are cast in a hilarious comedy, in which they are ably supported by such beauties as Claudia Dell and Lotti Loder. Others in the cast are Hobart Bosworth, Paul Gregory, Frank Hagney and Snitz Edwards.

It will be Warner Week at the Bijou theater for all three productions booked for the week, were made by this company. The second offering of the week will be a smartly sophisticated comedy drama, "Divorce Among Friends." The beautiful Irene Delroy is featured in this exciting story, along with such other handsome persons as James Hall, Lew Cody and Natalie Moorhead. Edward Martindel and Margaret Seddon are also in the support. It plays Wednesday and Thursday.

And the third Warner offering presents a most unusual cast. It is "Other Men's Women," and its players include Grant Withers, Mary Astor, Regis Toomey, James Cagney, Fred Kohler, J. Farrell

MacDonald, Joan Blondell and Walter Long.

Two popular Metropolitan Opera Co. stars sing at the Bijou Tuesday and Wednesday in "New Moon," the delightful Metro single. They are Grace Moore, who was well received here in "A Lady's Morals" and Lawrence Tibbett, star of "The Rogue Song." The piece is colorful, with book and lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein, Frank Mandel and Laurence Schwab. Others in the cast are Adolphe Menjou, Roland Young, Gus Shy and Emily Fitzroy.

There really isn't much that need be said, should he, said, or could be said about the Bijou offering for Thursday and Friday. It is Will Rogers in "A Connecticut Yankee," a modernized version of Mark Twain's old masterpiece and if you haven't heard about it you have been hiding someplace. Will's support includes Maureen O'Sullivan, Frank Albertson, Myrna Loy and William Farnum. Fox made the film.

No picture for Saturday has been booked at the Bijou, the billing to be announced later.

STATE WIDE SURVEY OF FARMER CREDIT IS BEING COMPILED

Data upon mortgages credit advanced to farmers in Greene County is being compiled by V. R. Wertz, of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster as part of a comprehensive plan, state-wide in scope, to obtain a cross-section view of the extent of farmer's loans since 1910 in representative territories in Ohio.

Mr. Wertz is now scanning records at the county recorder's office gathering statistics on this subject for the years 1910, 1920, 1925 and 1930, these corresponding in part with federal census years.

The project has a three-fold purpose. The experimental station is seeking to ascertain the source of credit, making a study of foreclosures on farm property and is gathering data upon chattel mortgage on farm property, including livestock, automobiles, farm machinery and the like.

Eventually a table of statistics will be prepared and information will be available with regard to the question of whether the extent of mortgage credit to farmers should be decreased or increased.
